But do you have a favourite financing option yet?

Well done.

While other shoppers deliberate over cosmetic options – as enjoyable as that is – you're busy devising a plan of how to acquire the most BMW for your money and how best to pay for this major purchase. It's never too early to think about financing decisions, as you well know.

Why finance?

There's just something satisfying about owning your own vehicle. You can accessorize and customize it to your liking. There are no mileage restrictions or caps. And as no other vehicle holds its resale value better than a BMW, financing makes just that much more sense.

Financing through BMW Financial Services is exhilarating.

And by exhilarating, we mean intelligent and flexible. A smart vehicle purchase should be supported with a smart purchase plan. Here, you'll find more financing options and terms than you could have imagined. We'll make it as easy as possible for you to drive the BMW you want now and be able to upgrade to another BMW in the future. It makes perfect sense to us. After all, no one wants to see you driving a BMW more than we do.

Select from two financing options – each one multiplied by countless options and terms, of course.

Standard Finance:

Our Standard Finance option is straightforward, easy and perfectly suited to many buyers. Competitive interest rates and contract terms from 24 to 84 months combine with a wide range of down payment options, and no administration charges, pay-off penalties or closing fees at the end of the contract. Talk about a simple yet flexible option. Sometimes the best choice is the obvious one.

OwnersChoice®:

Why not have the satisfaction of owning combined with the flexibility of a lease-type payment schedule? With OwnersChoice you make equal monthly payments over the term of your contract and a payment for the remaining amount (called a balloon) at the end. During the contract, your equal monthly payments are much lower, allowing you to purchase more BMW for less money per month. The length of contract is flexible, as is the balloon amount, which you can pay off at any time without penalty. Much like a lease, you keep your BMW at the end of the contract by paying off or refinancing the balance, if you haven't done so already. Total financing flexibility.

Here for you.

If you hadn't seriously considered financing through BMW Financial Services, admit it – you're considering it now. We look forward to building your individual profile and calculating a customized financing plan, so you can make the most educated payment decision when purchasing your BMW.
