RE: Permanent Solutions For Immigration

America is closely watching our two political parties who are right now in very serious discussions to move forward with solutions to solve and reform our country's thirty-year-old, neglected immigration policies.

The immigration laws that were in place were seldom enforced and the obsolete slow path to legal citizenship was causing much of that problem.

For 30 years, we the people often heard that both political parties were in agreement to find a way to stop the flow of illegals across the borders and that sooner or later a border wall of some sort was a logical solution to start to fix illegal entry into our nation. But it never happened.

It now appears that no matter what political party was in charge during this 30 year period, they seemed to have other personal agendas to satisfy, so we the people were once again victims of a two-party system that failed to solve our serious problems and often made them worse.

Americans are known around the world for their compassion and generosity, and are one hundred percent for legal immigration. We don't want our political leaders to change that image, especially concerning DACA and the Dreamers, but Americans want a solution to the immigration problem to be one we can be proud of.

It is now time to have enforceable laws and an uncomplicated path for immigration that's equally good for America and worthy immigrants seeking to come to our great country. It's clear that our political leaders are now in the spotlight and very visible to we the people concerning this major issue of immigration, so don't let us down on this issue again or you may pay the price in our next elections.

Solutions to America's problems that we can be proud of is we the people's message in 2018 to both of our political parties and their leaders.
