RE: Where Do We Go From Here?

When tax reform goes into effect, American businesses and workers will pay less taxes and keep more of the money they earn.

Wasteful government spending has always been an issue and an insult to the goodwill of taxpayers and it must end.

Small and large businesses will soon be on a level playing field with other countries and the American worker will once again prove to be the most efficient.

Remember, the USA was once the best at manufacturing. In fact, during World War II, we not only produced enough war material to defeat Germany and Japan, we were also able to arm and save our allies, Russia and England.

Then somehow our politicians slowly but surely were talked into a different way of doing things and instead of remaining number one in manufacturing, we actually gave up on manufacturing and made super powers of other countries, like China.

That's the same China we must now grovel to, in order to get help to control a rogue nation like North Korea.

Yes, change is needed ASAP and if you are like me, you don't care who does it.

Getting Missouri's and Illinois's best car deal is simple, just show up at any Bommarito Automotive group location and it's a done deal.
