

The car that stops for your life, not for gas.

The Nissan LEAF, with its sporty handling, lets you zip through your typical, hectic day while helping out the environment. And with its impressive range of up to 100 miles on a full battery, you won't even think of recharging again until you go to bed. And now, Nissan is offering a very competitive lease rate that can save you $50/month. Combined with the $10,000 in federal and state incentives, your monthly payment is lowered dramatically. (Not to mention the $200 a month you're not spending on gasoline.) In addition, LEAF drivers can get access to the car pool lanes with the coveted white HOV sticker. And free parking and charging in Santa Monica, Hermosa Beach, and especially at LAX, make the LEAF a bargain that will certainly make your day.
