Filling the Gap

Guaranteed Auto Protection (GAP) will waive or pay the deficiency balance (minus certain fees and charges) between the amount still due on your finance or lease contract and your auto insurance settlement.¹ In most states, GAP will cover your auto insurance deductible.²

What Your Auto Insurance May Pay

You might assume that your physical damage auto insurance is sufficient to cover any losses related to your vehicle.

However, when a vehicle is declared a total loss, the primary auto insurance settlement is generally based on the market value of the vehicle, which may be substantially less than the balance still owed on your finance or lease contract for the vehicle. This difference is called the deficiency balance, which the vehicle owner is generally responsible for.

Ask Your Dealer Now

Ask your dealer about GAP (offered by TFS) now because it's only available from your dealer at the time you purchase or lease an eligible new or used vehicle. And, for your convenience, the cost of GAP can be added to your finance or lease contract and included as a portion of your monthly payments (subject to credit approval).³ GAP is available in most states.

Auto Insurance Settlement before deductible is applied (if applicable).

GAP pays up to $1,000 of your auto insurance deductible²

If a total loss occurs without GAP, you are generally responsible for this amount to pay off your finance or lease contract.

1. Less any delinquent payments, taxes, and past due charges. See agreement, certificate, or waiver for complete details. Some restrictions apply.
2. Available in most states if it is purchased and disclosed separately on the finance/lease contract.
3. Not all customers will qualify.
