

2009 PULITZER PRIZE WINNER FOR PUBLIC SERVICE LASVEGASSUN.COM

LAS VEGAS SUN

LOCALLY OWNED AND INDEPENDENT | FRIDAY, JULY 18, 2014

8 | PHOTOGRAPHY

LAS VEGAS SUN FRIDAY, JULY 18, 2014

PHOTOS COURTESY OF JEFF RAGAZZO

Towbin Dodge in the Valley Automall in Henderson hosted an animal adoption drive in partnership with the Animal Foundation on Saturday, and many dogs found new homes. Top: Harley, a German shepherd-pit bull mix made some new friends before he was adopted. Above: The Towbin Dodge staff loved Trudy, a Chihuahua. Right: Metro helped work the Animal Foundation information table while he waited for adoption.

COMMUNITY

Dodge and dogs: Furry friends find new homes at Towbin adoption event

Kora and Kona play with guests and Animal Foundation volunteers at the adoption drive. The foundation, a nonprofit organization, offers several services in addition to adoption, including a low-cost spay and neuter clinic, a vaccine clinic and pet microchipping.

Snokey is ready for his close up at the Animal Foundation adoption drive. Visit <http://animal-foundation.com/adopt> to see more of the animals available for adoption.

Trixie smiles for the camera with an Animal Foundation volunteer at the adoption drive. The foundation offers many ways to volunteer and also has a fostering program.

Trixie posed with her new family at Towbin Dodge before going to her new home. Anyone looking to adopt from the Animal Foundation must provide a valid I.D., proof of address, and a copy of a lease and pet policy if renting. The foundation has a main adoption center in Las Vegas and an Everyday Adoption Center inside the Henderson PetSmart. Both locations have cats and dogs, and the main adoption center has other pets, as well.

Tootsie and Bob get ready to take newly Angel home. Towbin Dodge covered $50 adoption fee during the event.

LASVEGASSUN.COM / PHOTOS