POWERHOUSE PRESSURE WASHER FEATURES

THERMAL RELIEF VALVE — Protects the pump from damaging heat build up while it is in bypass mode. The thermal relief valve, sensing a rise in temperature opens and discharges a small amount of heated fluid. This allows cooler water to enter the system and cool the pump. When the gun is discharged the cooler water will cause the valve to close immediately. All POWERHOUSE pressure washer models have a thermal relief valve included to protect the pump.

TRIPLEX PUMP — Triplex pumps are positive-displacement reciprocating pumps that are configured with three plungers. Triplex pumps are used in applications that require continuous pumping. For example, a triplex pump is a common component in large-capacity commercial car wash equipment. The plunger pump design of a triplex pump offers a reinforced seal and uses ceramic plungers for tight alignment and long life in high-pressure applications. Our pumps use clean water only and no corrosives can be used in the injection system. Triplex pumps have a brass body which resists corrosion and scale buildup.
